Short Essay Question

Question

First, choose one theme that you consider especially important from the knowledge you have learned so far. Next, imagine that a friend one year your junior has asked you a question about this topic. How would you explain the key ideas to this younger friend if they were unfamiliar with the field? Please develop the conversation between the two of you.

Please use your imagination and elaborate the conversation freely. For example, your friend might ask the following questions: Why does it matter? How could this knowledge be useful? Why do you think it's interesting? (within 2 pages)

Example

You: Today's class was about XX, and it was really interesting!

Friend: Nice! What did you learn about it?

You: Well, XX is ...

Friend: That sounds interesting. But what's the use of knowing about that sort of thing?

You: Well, for example, it could be useful when thinking about ...

Notes

*The example is just to give you a basic idea, and you do not need to follow the format.

*The knowledge referred to here is not limited to what you have learned in formal educational curriculums. You may include knowledge learned through any forms of schooling or self-study and from any subject fields.

*Use of dictionaries and other reference materials is permitted.
